UNIVERSITY OF SANTA CLARA

Santa Clara, Calif.

IN RETROSPECT
May 21, 1959 marked a happy occasion at Santa Clara - the Golden Jubilee of Brother James M. Dunn, S.J. At eleven o'clock, the Very Reverend Carroll M. O'Sullivan, S.J., Provincial of the California Province of the Society of Jesus ascended the high altar in the Mission Church to offer a special Mass of Thanksgiving. In the sanctuary knelt Brother Dunn who united his prayers of gratitude through the sacrifice as he thanked God for the grace of fifty years of service in the Society that bears the name of His Son.

The Jesuit Jubilarian was surely at home before the altar, for it was here that he has labored for nearly half of his religious life. Day by day for almost a quarter of a century has Brother Dunn arisen before five o'clock to prepare for the early Masses in the Mission Church. And here he labors until he rings the De Profundis bells at eight-thirty in the evening.

Brother Dunn was born in Cork on June 12, 1886. It takes almost an act of faith to believe he is seventy three years old, so sprightly is his bounce and so youthful his face. When Brother was five years old, the Dunns moved to England, and Brother made his way to Canada and to California in 1909, entering the Jesuit Order at Los Gatos in the same year when he was twenty-three years old.

Over the years since his vows, he has served as Assistant Treasurer at the University of San Francisco and at Seattle University, but his real home is Santa Clara. For many years, in the days when the Provincial Residence was attached to St. Joseph's Church in San Jose, Brother would finish his morning sanctuary chores here at the Mission and then walk all the way to San Jose to work as secretary to the Provincial.

His first assignment to Santa Clara came in 1915 when he supervised the laundry and student coop, and many an alumnus of that vintage has remarked that the humble Brother of Santa Clara has changed very little in forty years.

This man of quiet cheerfulness with a twinkle in his heart has been a source of joy to Broncos of many and many a year, and the students of Santa Clara are proud to salute Brother James M. Dunn, S.J. on the occasion of his Golden Jubilee!
It is good manners to say thank you, and this is the one thing we wish to do in our Redwood 1959.

Year after year, the Student Body of Santa Clara dedicates its annual now to one, now to another, as we offer congratulations or gratitude to individuals or celebrate occasions of special anniversaries.

It has been one hundred and eighty two years since the founding of this eighth Franciscan Mission in California and one hundred and eight years since the coming of the Jesuit Fathers. We cannot know nor count up the countless number of friends nor mark down the deeds of so many who have written and are writing the history of Santa Clara. But to those we know and to those known only to God, we want to renew our grateful memory and offer a simple word of thanks.

To the Franciscan Fathers of old who brought the Faith to our campus on January 12, 1777.
To the old Italian Fathers of the Jesuit Order who founded the college on March 19, 1851, and to all the Fathers and Brothers down to this present day who have consecrated their lives to Santa Clara and to us.

• • • To the Franciscan Fathers of old who brought the Faith to our campus on January 12, 1777.
• • • To the old Italian Fathers of the Jesuit Order who founded the college on March 19, 1851, and to all the Fathers and Brothers down to this present day who have consecrated their lives to Santa Clara and to us.

• • • To the Lay Faculty—men of high dedication who make great sacrifices to educate us for the future.
• • • To our beloved parents who have loved us best by providing us with an opportunity to mature in a Catholic University.
• • • To the officers of administration and down to those of the humblest student services who contribute in silent ways to make our university days memorable.
• • • To the Board of Trustees who serve the University with distinction and with generosity.
• • • To the Alumni, and to their parents of days gone by, who have been loyal over the years, helping the Fathers, building the buildings, supporting University programs of development, aiding the students.

• • • To the Women of Catala whose one work is to be of financial assistance to the students.
• • • To the City of Santa Clara and our friends on Franklin Street who have always worked with the University since the days of the Mission.
• • • To the many many friends of the University who are our friends and benefactors as well because every student has benefited from their support and has profited from their good example. We do not know them all, but we thank them.

Throughout the pages of the Redwood, we renew grateful memory of several families of the past who have been of signal service to Santa Clara and whose names are honored in our various Halls. To this litany must we add the name of Mr. Robert F. Benson of San Jose. This man of exemplary Catholic life who died last year willed his entire fortune to the Church for works of education and of charity, and Santa Clara was his dearest friend.

To all and to each, as students of the University, we offer our prayerful “Thank You” now, with a pledge that such faith and love for us and for Santa Clara shall ever be secure.
Mr. and Mrs. James E. Walsh must be marked down and gratefully remembered as the greatest benefactors in the long history of the University of Santa Clara. Public records will not show it as this generous family always shunned publicity and preferred that their name be kept secret when they quietly offered their help to countless Catholic institutions.

Their first major gift to Santa Clara was the library. Father Cornelius J. McCoy, S.J. (President, 1926-32) and Father Henry Woods, S.J., their friend wished to name the building in their honor. When they refused, they were asked to choose a name and they expressed a desire to perpetuate the name of their dear friend, Father Aloysius Varsi, S.J.

Their final bequest which came to Santa Clara after both Mr. and Mrs. Walsh had died provided the capital with which Father William C. Gianera, S.J. (President, 1945-51) built Delia L. Walsh Hall and James E. Walsh Hall. Father Gianera rightly insisted that now, the names of Delia and James should surely be held in public benediction.

Delia L. McAvoy was born in San Francisco in 1860 and was educated at Holy Names, Oakland and in France. In 1887 she married Mr. Walsh and through her husband who was an alumnus, she came to love Santa Clara. Although she never saw a football game in her life, she was avidly interested in Buck Shaw's boys into her eighties. If friends called on her when her Broncos were playing, she insisted that her maid keep her posted on the game. If Santa Clara was winning, she was all smiles; on rare occasions when her boys got behind, she would shake her head in disappointment.

Although highly educated and of many accomplishments in the arts, Mrs. Walsh was never interested in a career outside her home. In God's mysterious providence, she lost her two children in childbirth. Her first dedication was to her husband. Mr. and Mrs. Walsh were one in all things. They did everything together. As her husband's career as manager of the Flood Estate for forty years caused him to face many difficult problems, Mrs. Walsh's first concern was to keep her home a place of peace and comfort for him, and the mutual devotion of this couple was a source of genuine edification to all.

They were one as well in their works of charity. Their special love was for boys, and their prodigious gifts furthered the cause of education at every major Catholic institution of higher learning in California. In their final will, some sixty five institutions of education and charity were substantially remembered. But above all did the Walshes love Santa Clara. Their final testamentary gift is proof that they deeply appreciated and worked to advance the ideal of this University—"to mould men after the model of the Man-God, and thus form them to serve their fellowmen, their country and their God."

Mrs. Walsh survived her husband by sixteen years and died in San Francisco on March 31, 1948.
One of the pastimes which never fails to interest the human family is a perusal of Year Books dating back fifteen, twenty and thirty years. Reason for the interest is the fact that we like to know what so-and-so looked like when he was in college, what promise he showed and what he has accomplished since the day he graduated.

The process is reversed when we consider the Graduates of 1959. Armed with their diplomas, they leave Santa Clara to undertake a score or more of careers. How will their story read half a century hence? Will the brilliant Law Student develop into the genuinely respected jurist? Will the aspiring physician remember his dedication through his years of practice? Will the engineer, the businessman and the scientist maintain their spiritual equilibrium in a world that gives the laurel to material success?

If Santa Clara has given you merely technical preparation without a concomitant appreciation of your eternal destiny, it has failed in its objective, for, “To mould men after the model of the Man-God. . . . this is the ideal and the purpose of the University of Santa Clara.”

It is not enough, then, to produce good professional men and good career men. Santa Clara aims at the double ideal of good lawyers, good doctors, good engineers who are also good men. May you be such always and may God and His Mother guide you to your eternal home.

Alumnus and fourteenth president of Santa Clara College, Father James P. Morrissey, S.J., might well be called its second founder. January 12, 1777 marks the humble beginning of the Mission School under the Franciscan Padres Tomas de la Pena and Jose de la Murguia. Great work for God was continued by such sons of St. Francis as Padres Rafael Moreno, Diego Garcia, later first Bishop of California and by Magin Catala. But in 1845, Padre Jose del Real witnessed the secularization of the Mission by Mexican decree.

In 1851, Father John Nobili, S.J., a true nobleman of Rome was commissioned by Right Reverend Joseph Sadoc Alemany, O.P., Bishop of San Francisco, to rehabilitate the Mission and found the College of St. Clare. With one hundred dollars to his name and a gift of fifty dollars from the Bishop, Father Nobili started his work. He dedicated the college to St. Joseph, opening its doors on his feast, March 19, 1851, with a faculty of five, a student body of twelve and a staff made up of one nurse and an Indian cook.

The progressive administrations of such men as Father Nicholas Congiato, S.J., Father Burchard Villiger, S.J., Father Aloysius Varsi, S.J., who built "The Ship" in 1870, and Father Robert Kenna, S.J., all contributed to the spectacular growth of the little college. But it was Father Morrissey more than any other who broadened and reordered the campus, revolutionized the curriculum and changed the status of Santa Clara from college to University.

Fifty years ahead of his time in administration, he sketched a campus blueprint for Greater Santa Clara and he built the Faculty Residence and O'Connor Hall. He opened the College of Law and the College of Engineering and Architecture, reorganized the arts courses and improved the pre-medical program.

Thirty thousand alumni and friends attended the Jubilee Year celebration of Santa Clara when the twin buildings Father Morrissey built were blessed. A man of courage, he spoke out clearly and boldly on that occasion. "We have asked your help and you are here thirty thousand strong to nerve our hearts and strengthen our arms. This is a cause to which no sane and enlightened man can long be indifferent. . . . During the year just past, we received for this work from our devoted friends approximately $50,000. We are grateful. During the same period, the University of California, richly subsidized by the State, received in addition to all this assistance, donations by private individuals amounting to more than $800,000. If the Catholic people of this community would but contribute as liberally to Santa Clara . . . Catholic university students would be prepared for life in a Catholic atmosphere. We invite you, then, to contribute your energy and your resources according to your ability to our work which is God's work that the Catholic people of the West may possess their own university on a spot where higher learning first lighted its torch in Western America!"

This cultural center of the University was the gift of Isabel de Saisset of San Jose who died in 1950. Desiring to leave a fitting place for the paintings of her brother Ernest who was educated at Santa Clara, she willed properties and the artistic works of her brother to his Alma Mater.

Isabel and Ernest were children of the French born Pedro de Saisset, a San Jose lawyer and business man who brought electric power to the Santa Clara valley in 1882. He incorporated the Brush Electric Light Company in that year and bought the famed two hundred and eight foot Light Tower that stood high above the intersection at Santa Clara and Market Streets in the early eighties.

From 1880 to 1883, his son Ernest received his first adult art training from the Jesuit Brother Bartholomew Tortore, S.J., who was instructor in art and drawing at the college, and here it was that Ernest made his vigorous head study of Father Michael Accolti, S.J., companion to Father Nobili of the founding days of Santa Clara.

Ernest continued his studies at the Ecole des Beaux Arts under Adolphe Bouguereau in Paris, and his portraits and pastorals created in the Bouguereau and Poussin tradition are on exhibit in the Gallery.

Other permanent collections have been added since the opening of the de Saisset Gallery in 1955 including the Chinese objets d'art of Mary Halbrook Knight of Burlingame, the Mexican and French collections of Mr. E. V. D'Berger of Fresno, the miniatures of Dr. Josef Hilpert, the Japanese collection of the E. J. Griffiths of Hillsborough, the water colors of F. McClatchy Richardson of Sacramento and the symbolic portraits of Henry Edmiston of Los Angeles. The lower level of the Gallery contains the University's Californiana of Franciscan and Jesuit mission exhibits and the Father Galtes Mineral and Archeological Exhibits.

Other exhibits as well as concerts and lectures make the Gallery a font of enrichment for the students and friends of the University. Father Joseph Pociask, S.J., is the Director of the Gallery and he is assisted by the Gallery Associates, a cultural society he founded in 1956.

The history of the Santa Clara Senate is the history of a disintegrating state and society, in which men became self-seeking, while social and political problems became the tools of contending factions fighting for power, which caused an integrated Senate to atrophy, leaving in its place lust for power and personal advantage.

Distinguished Service Award

Ted, a man known by all Santa Clarans, is the type of man that his fellow classmates point to with a feeling of pride. For here is a man that has given of himself to keep Santa Clara on the top of the crest of the universities in the nation. We do not say that Ted does not have ambition, but we say that his ambition is tempered with a proper hierarchy of values. Because of his foresight in seeing what Santa Clara was in need of while he attended the University and the courage and determination to see his dreams frutify, We, the Students of Santa Clara, have presented him with the "ASUSC Distinguished Service Award."

This year the Senior Class was provided a brief preview of what lies ahead in their search for success and accomplishment in their chosen fields. Senior Class President Sam Lavorato aided by Jim Mangan, approached the Alumni in hopes of sponsoring a Senior-Alumni Day in which the Seniors would be given the opportunity to meet men, graduates of their university, who have risen on the ladder of success.

Speaking for the Senior Class, we wish to thank the Alumni for giving us the opportunity to meet them on an informal basis.

The Class of 59 for the third year in a row dashed off with top honors on President's Day. Led by the superb efforts of Dave Dawson, Jim Taylor and Nelson Sorem the Seniors found little competition. Jim, the Master, Taylor set a new President's Day record in the day's events, scoring individually 25½ points.

The Senior Class, confident of victory in the softball game with the faculty, met their match in the sterling pitching performance of "Rookie of the Year," Fr. Pat Donohoe. The faculty soared ahead in the early innings, never to falter.

Dr. Logue makes introduction
Senior resident students of Santa Clara make their home in a hall honoring a distinguished alumnus and friend of the University—Mr. James E. Walsh. From his scholastic days at St. Ignatius in San Francisco and at Santa Clara College in the late seventies down to his death in 1932, he was devoted to the Fathers and their work.

“I am dying,” he whispered to one of the Fathers, “but Mrs. Walsh does not know it. And I do not wish her to know it. Now I am leaving all my estate in trust to Mrs. Walsh while she lives. After her death, I have made arrangements that it be distributed to charities in which I am interested, particularly to St. Ignatius and to Santa Clara.”

The will of Mr. Walsh was a masterpiece in that he forgot almost no Catholic charity and included several Protestant, Jewish and secular institutions of public service. Gifts and bequests of Mr. and Mrs. Walsh built the Varsi Library, and the two campus halls named after them here at Santa Clara; their gifts made possible the building of the Father Richard A. Gleason Library at the University of San Francisco, the Theological Library at Alma College, the Province Infirmary at the Sacred Heart Novitiate of Los Gatos, the chapel at St. Vincent's School for Boys in San Rafael; and some sixty other institutions of California conducted by Franciscans, Dominicans, Paulists, Maryknoll Fathers, the Christian Brothers; all the Catholic hospitals of San Francisco, many parishes and convents—all were beneficiaries of this estate in excess of two million dollars.

Mr. Walsh, a native son, left Santa Clara College in 1876 to enter the brokerage office of his uncle, Ned Cahill, in San Francisco. From there he soon moved to the Nevada Bank which had been organized in 1875 by the bonanza partners Mackay, Fair, Flood and O'Brien. After an apprenticeship in banking, he was taken into the personal office of James Clair Flood and served as manager and associate of the Flood Estate for forty years until his death. It was in this career that Mr. Walsh established his fortune in the days before the Income Tax Law of 1913.

Mr. Walsh was a perfect gentleman, attest his friends; always gracious, possessed of a rich dignity and of a vibrance of character that made him a striking personality. His two children died at birth and Mr. Walsh “adopted” as his own, the boys of every college, seminary and orphanage of Northern California. His great heart embraced the souls of countless orphans and the underprivileged, and he was not unmindful of the missions of the Church.

Senior Week

With final exams a thing of the past, the Class of 1959 capped its college days with the traditional Senior Week activities. Monday through Thursday found several of the members on retreat at El Retiro San Inigo in Los Altos.

On Thursday evening, the California Country Club in San Bruno hosted the graduates for their annual Senior Ball. Friday featured the Baccalaureate Mass in the morning and the Senior-Parent dinner in the evening.

Saturday morning, 232 degrees were conferred in the University gardens.

The history of the Class of 1959 during this its concluding year is crammed with advancement both academically and socially. The purpose of this paragraph is not that of a second valedictory but rather to give the spirit of this group of men who have studied, relaxed, but most importantly, advanced in the environment that is Santa Clara. Within the depths of each of its members certain particular highlights will come to mind to capture one's own interpretation of Santa Clara. While the class, or at least many of its individuals, seemed to have been involved in a number of squabbles with administrative personnel we its members feel the Class of 1959 was a well balanced class. Some of our members excelled academically, others brought recognition to our University on the sporting pages across the nation. But of more lasting importance, each was brought to a maturity which is the aim of Santa Clara.

Who's Who
in American Universities

The book is published with the main purpose of giving recognition to graduating seniors throughout the nation who have proven themselves to be outstanding, both academically and in extra curricular activities, on their respective campuses.

These students have been picked by the executive committee of the ASUSC and were approved by the Vice-President in charge of Student Affairs, the Academic Vice-President, and the Student Chaplain. The winners receive a short biographical listing in the Who's Who Book, and Certificates of Merit for their worthy and generous contributions to Santa Clara.

The honor of receiving a Who's Who Award is considered one of the highest honors here at Santa Clara and the University is also proud to host men of such high calibre on its campus.

Twenty years ago, Father Louis C. Rudolph, S.J. (President, 1935-40) dedicated the new law building to Santa Clara's first graduate, the honorable Thomas I. Bergin. To Mr. Bergin must be accorded the distinction of being the first graduate to receive a degree from any college in the State of California.

Entering the college from Chile, he completed a brilliant course terminating in a Bachelor of Arts in 1857 and was also awarded a Master of Arts, honoris causa, in 1865. We read in the college records that in the oral examinations or "public exhibitions" of July 10, 1856, "T. Bergin was examined on the twenty four books of the Iliad from nine-thirty in the morning until noon, followed by an examination in the various branches of Rational Philosophy, anyone in the audience being free to put questions. In the afternoon, from twelve-fifteen until six forty-five was devoted to an examination in the natural sciences."

Partner to the Bergin-McAllister law firm of San Francisco, Mr. Bergin was the most prominent and successful lawyer of the City for many years. His exceptional acumen brought him national prominence in the legal world and he was not unmindful of the part his Alma Mater contributed to that achievement.

Mr. Bergin was invited by Father Edward Ryan, S.J., to work hand in hand with the Fathers on the development program of Father James Morrissey, and the law school founded in 1911 was Mr. Bergin's first concern. He made a substantial gift of $100,000 toward the building of a permanent home when circumstances would warrant, but for many years, its modest student body was easily cared for by the other facilities of the college. In gratitude to Mr. Bergin, however, the Faculty Residence bore the name of Bergin Hall from 1912 to 1939.

In 1933, a day law program was inaugurated and five years later, Father Rudolph built the present hall for law, naming it after one of Santa Clara's most illustrious sons, Mr. Thomas I. Bergin.

This past year, Father Patrick A. Donohoe, S.J., Santa Clara's newly installed twenty fourth president announced the reopening of a full evening program in law for September, 1959, and plans are being formulated for an annex to Bergin Hall.

The most recently completed building on campus was built in 1958 by Father Herman J. Hauck, S.J., (President, 1951-58) to perpetuate the memory of Mr. Edward O. McLaughlin, another great friend of the University. He and his wife Adelia were converts to the Faith and in a spirit of charity and with great humility they championed the cause of religion and education in many ways that are known only to God.

Mr. McLaughlin was born in Philadelphia in 1829 and the family later lived in Indiana and in New Orleans. A tinsmith by trade, Mr. McLaughlin migrated to Grass Valley at the time of the Gold Rush and opened a hardware store in Virginia City. It was in this city too that he married Adelia Hickman in 1866.

Two years later, the couple came to Santa Clara valley and built their home at Seventh and Reed Streets in San Jose. Mr. McLaughlin joined another outstanding Catholic convert and pioneer, Mr. Caius T. Ryland (founder of the Ryland Debate Prize) in opening a banking business in 1870 and he was active in this profession until 1917, two years before he died at the age of ninety.

The McLaughlins contributed with great largess to all the needy Catholic institutions of the valley and on many occasions, they were the leading spirit that encouraged others to join them in advancing the work of God. Mr. McLaughlin was also an associate of Mr. Myles O’Connor (O’Connor Hall) of San Jose and represented him and worked with him in many charitable projects.

A daily communicant to his death, Mr. McLaughlin was an inspiration to all in his love of God and of God’s work. In his last illness when unconsciousness took him from his friends, he was close to God and was frequently seen to extend his tongue as though to receive Holy Communion.

His Excellency, Edward J. Hanna, Archbishop of San Francisco pronounced the final absolution at the Solemn Requiem for Mr. McLaughlin in 1919 and praised without measure the noble life of this man and his wife who did so much to advance the modern University of Santa Clara.

CLASSES

Like an old time Western movie, this unusual class featured the "good guys" and the "bad guys," with neither having a starring role.

An early informal gathering seemed to set the pace for the "boys of '60," as they continued on this same footing throughout the year.

They kept in step with this pattern for the remainder of the year, and topped their activities with their annual Prom.

Under the direction of prexy Jerry Kerr, the Sophomore Class passed all expectations as they carried out another successful program during the year.

The highlight of their activities was their avid support of an intramural football program which was eventually adopted by the University.

They sponsored a number of dances which capped their varied social activities in fine fashion.

Another credit which is rightfully theirs is the instigation of the Charlie Graham Club, an organization designed to stimulate interest in all types of athletic endeavors.

Though thought by many to be a very poorly organized group of individuals at the outset, the Class of '62 came into their own late in the year with "77 Sunset Strip," one of the better mixers of the social year.

Their showing in the President's Day activities, second place, shows an indication of progress, but only time will tell.

With a new year ahead of them, the frosh could eventually develop into a noteworthy group.

The Ricard Memorial Observatory to the right and the Donohoe Infirmary in the background were two generous gifts to the University in 1925.

The Infirmary replaced the old dispensary which used to occupy a second floor above the Adobe Lodge of today.

The Donohoes were an Irish couple who met and married in Baltimore in 1850. They came to San Francisco for their honeymoon. They were disturbed by the social conditions in the Gate City of those days and felt it would not be a fitting place to raise a family and they moved south, settling in San Diego.

In 1877 they moved to Santa Clara in order to enroll their son Fred at the college, and they built their family home at Franklin and Monroe Streets. Always generous with their means, they were of substantial support to the needy and devoted to the Fathers of Santa Clara.

Mr. Donohoe died in 1898 and his wife Rose, in 1923. It was the special devotion of their son and their daughter Catherine that the Donohoe Infirmary was built and dedicated to the honor of their parents.

The Redwood is indeed sorry it could locate no picture of these benefactors.

The Memorial Observatory honors the name of one of Santa Clara's more widely known scientists, Father Jerome S. Ricard, S.J., and renewed gratitude is expressed to the Knights of Columbus of California, especially of Northern California, whose campaign and contributions made this building a reality.

Father Ricard experimented and brought to considerable accuracy the weather forecasting system based on the Sun Spot Theory. Affectionately called the "Padre of the Rains," Father's weekly and monthly forecasts were followed by California farmers through the many years of his devoted labors at Santa Clara. He also deserves credit for stimulating long range studies of California water problems and worked for water conservation and planning in California.

Without doubt, one of the greatest men of charity in the history of early American California was Judge Myles Poore O'Connor in whose honor O'Connor Hall is named. For half a century, he and his wife Amanda spent their lives and their wealth in undertakings for man and God. Theirs was the founding of the San Jose Sanitarium, the present O'Connor Hospital; theirs was the Notre Dame Institute for Orphans of Santa Clara County. Gifts reaching into the millions were lavished upon such worthy institutions as the Catholic University of America, Trinity College of Washington, D.C., St. Patrick Seminary, Menlo Park, the Extension Society of America, the Paulist Fathers, St. Joseph's Church, San Jose and the Sacred Heart Novitiate of Los Gatos. They even donated their home to the Notre Dame Sisters of San Jose, and they spent the last several years of their lives living humbly in modest rooms in O'Connor Hospital.

Born in Abbeyleix, Ireland, in 1823, Judge O'Connor migrated to New York in 1838 and on to Missouri where he was degree in law in 1846 from one of Santa Clara's sister institutions, St. Louis University. In April, 1849, he came west during the Gold Rush, settling in Grass Valley where he practiced law and prospected for gold. By 1852 he staked his first claims in gold followed by successful developments in copper, silver and quartz mines.

Though his fortunes offered him easy opportunity for leisure, he continued to practice law, was nine times elected Justice of the Peace in Grass Valley and was elected Assemblyman and Senator from Nevada County to the State Legislature from 1860 to 1876.

Failing health took him abroad with his wife several times, and during the last seven years of his life, he was totally blind.

In 1884, the O'Connors moved to San Jose and it was Judge O'Connor's friendship with Father Nicholas Congiato, S.J., second president of Santa Clara College, that brought him close to the Jesuits. On numerous occasions, the missionary and educational works of the Fathers throughout Northern California were advanced through the personal solicitude of this generous benefactor.

At Commencement in 1907 under the presidency of Father Richard A. Gleason, S.J. (1905-10), the college honored its great friend awarding Judge O'Connor the degree of Doctor of Philosophy. Two years later, the Judge died at the age of eighty six.

Surviving her husband for sixteen years, Mrs. O'Connor continued his generous labors until she was laid to rest at his side in the Santa Clara Cemetery in 1925.

This was a controversial year for the Owl but the staff, under the able leadership of John Jardine and Gabriel Pinheiro, rose above its difficulties to once again present sterling issues. In the Fall issue, Jim Douglass stressed fiction and poetry, including a significant short story of his own. With the Winter issue the reign of Jardine and Pinheiro began. The new editorship stressed the need for positive, constructive controversy for the betterment of student life and the advancement of truth. The function of the Owl as the carrier of controversy was reaffirmed. The most significant change brought in by the new editorship was the entirely new literary format and size. This was a complete break with tradition.
The Forensic Society has as its main purpose the encouragement of active participation in speech events, both on and off campus. Some of the campus events include the Owl Oratorical Contest, won this year by Martin Larrey and the Ryland Debate, won by Dan Baedeker, Luis Belmonte, and Dick Bernacchi. For the second year in a row, Tom Malloy walked off with the top speaker’s award. The organization distinguished itself at Linfield, Oregon and at other contests throughout the state. Much credit for the success of the Society must be attributed to Mr. Robert Hayes of the Speech and Drama Department whose excellent leadership fostered many wins.

Excellent work was performed by the central committee and much enthusiasm was evidenced by both faculty and students for the club and its purpose.

The year 1959 was perhaps the most active year the Business Administration Association has experienced thus far at the Mission Campus. Under the presidency of Ronald P. Lopes and guided by C. Hadley, Ph.D., the B.A.A.'s gamut of activities ran from the Business College's Semi-formal dance at the St. Francis Hotel in the Fall, to the very informal banquet that was held at Mariani's in the middle of May. In between these two events general lectures were held for the business majors in the deSaisset Art Gallery, and smaller class lectures were presided over by the respective classes. J. R. Gallucci was vice-president of the B.A.A.; Hugo Ivanovich was Treasurer; Roger Sheerin held the post of secretary; and Terry Curtola was Sergeant-at-arms.
Functioning as a coordinating medium for students in the College of Arts and Sciences, The A & S Central Committee has as its main function the promoting of its annual dance which is held in the Spring Semester. This year the Ball was held at the Mark Hopkins Hotel in San Francisco and was a tremendous success. Three hundred couples danced to the music of Walt Tolleson and enjoyed the festivities both before and after the dance. Late in the Spring semester a banquet was held for the committee members who worked so hard to make the dance a success. Chairman Lagomarsino was well satisfied with the dance itself and with the speedy and efficient aid that was rendered him by the committee. The chairmanship of the committee also carries with it a seat in the A.S.U.S.C. Senate—a position filled most adequately by Lagomarsino.

The Sodality's activities this year permeated many fields; from the Missions, the Liturgy and spreading Christian doctrine, to Retreats and counseling their probationers in the Sodality Way of Life.

The Dialogue Mass was initiated by the Sodality this year at the Students' Mass on Sunday. The Dialogue Mass provides for participation by the people in the sacrifice of the Mass, which is, after all, a social and not an individual act.

Among the other Sodality activities were supplying Catechism teachers throughout the Santa Clara Valley and organizing the daily Rosary in the months of October and May. For the Sodalists themselves the Sodality sponsors several activities to further their spiritual, intellectual, and social lives. This year marked the first 5-day Retreat, a most successful and rewarding project.
Ray Roeder, Chairman of the Mission Drive, views some of his handiwork. In sponsoring Santa Clara's annual campaign for the missions, this year the Sodality surpassed the goal of $2000. This much-needed sum was sent to the Jesuit missionaries on Formosa.

Delta Sigma Pi has enjoyed its most successful year since its installation at Santa Clara in 1950. To mention but a few, this professional business fraternity has entertained guests from L.B.M., a local teamster union, and small retailing establishments. Greatest strides were made in the area of social activity. The social year opened with the first school-wide dance. Known as the annual Delta Swinging Affair, held at the beautiful Mary Ann Gardens, it was among the best social events of the year. Another high-light of the past year was the Gay 90's Carnival-Mixer. Always outstanding, the Rose of Delta Sig Dinner Dance, provided the brothers with a full evening. Lovely Barbara Ann Garbe, escorted by Jack Hayes, was chosen queen of the festive occasion. Other social events capped the year.
The California Zeta chapter of the Tau Beta Pi began a dynamic year by sending Ron Bauer, the chapter president, to the national convention of the Tau Beta Pi at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in Boston. After representing Santa Clara at the national convention, Ron led the Tau Betas through a highly active and productive year. The largest undertaking of the year was the establishment of a more effective tutoring program to help the frosh students having academic difficulties. The program is run on a study hall basis from 7:00 to 10:30 p.m. on school evenings with one Tau Beta present to help the students with their problems.

A joint meeting with the Stanford University chapter was initiated this year, which proved to be very profitable.
Alpha Sigma Nu, the national Jesuit honorary fraternity, is a society organized of honor students who have distinguished themselves in scholarship, service, and loyalty to their university. This year the brothers initiated the teacher evaluation sheets as well as establishing honorary memberships. This year they went to Governor Pat Brown, Chancellor Adenaur of West Germany and General Gunther.
The Kappa Zeta Phi Fraternity is composed of more than 50 men who have distinguished themselves in extra-curricular activities and maintained a high academic standard. During the year the fraternity ushered at all basketball games, the Lecture Series, Family Day and the Open House, and many more activities as well as conducting tours for more than four thousand visitors to the campus. The fraternity also handled all policing duties for campus mixer dances. The social scene was highlighted by six smokers, three informal dances, two pledge banquets and a barbecue. Jerry Peters was president of the fraternity for the first semester and Dave Dawson handled that position in the second semester. Twenty-five pledges were initiated during the year from more than ninety-five applicants.

From the first years of Santa Clara College, the Fathers did much to provide facilities for the athletic development of the students. As early as August, 1856 when the school was but five years old, we read that Father Mengarini built a swimming pool which was dedicated on October 30, and two weeks later, the framework for the first gymnasium began to rise, although straightened financial circumstances delayed its completion until 1859.

The varsity baseball diamond—and baseball was one sport for which Santa Clara was famous for generations—was located in the area where the Montgomery Laboratories and The Ship now stand. The Ship was originally built on the site of the present gymnasium and was moved to make ample room for O'Connor Hall and the Seifert Gymnasium.

This gymnasium, built in 1924 under the direction of Father Zacheus J. Maher, S.J. (President, 1921-26) was made possible by Doctor George W. Seifert of San Jose, an alumnus of the Class of '79.

From 1884 to 1897, Doctor Seifert was resident and visiting physician to the college and he aided it various ways by helping his friend, Father James Morrissey during his presidency. Finally, he remembered his Alma Mater with bequests and properties in his will.

As the will was not specific in regard to unforeseen claimants, fourteen years of litigation resulted in a division of the funds with some distant European relatives whom the Doctor had never known. It was through the generosity of the late Matt Sullivan and Owen Richardson who served the college without fee that ample capital was left for the building of the Seifert Gymnasium.

Santa Clara Triumphs Over St. Mary's, 67-66

Beat COP in Two Overtimes

By JAC

"It was a great victory." With those words, John McHale expressed the elation of a Santa Clara man. When the final buzzer sounded, Santa Clara had defeated COP, 67-66, in two overtime periods.

The game was a classic battle of two teams with strong records. Each had won its share of games and lost its share of games. But the win for Santa Clara was its first over COP in six years.

The game was scored in the form of a basketball game. The ball was tossed from Santa Clara, then to COP, then back to Santa Clara, then to COP, and so on.

The game was played in the old Civic Auditorium, a place where the routine sounds of the game were drowned out by a crowd of people cheering wildly.

The game was won by Santa Clara on the strength of its big men. The Santa Clara forwards, John McHale and Bob Van Swieten, were too much for COP's forwards, Bob Johnson and John Johnson.

The game was lost by COP on the strength of its fast break. COP's guards, John Johnson and Bill Johnson, were too much for the Santa Clara guards.

The game was tied at the end of the first half, 33-33. The game was tied at the end of the second half, 54-54. The game was tied at the end of the first overtime, 59-59. The game was tied at the end of the second overtime, 67-66.

The game was played in the spirit of fair play. Each team was allowed to have one substitute, and each substitute was allowed to play for three minutes.

The game was won by Santa Clara on the strength of its defense. The Santa Clara defense was too much for COP's offense. The Santa Clara defense was too much for its own offense.

The game was lost by COP on the strength of its own defense. The COP defense was too much for Santa Clara's offense. The COP defense was too much for its own offense.

The game was played in front of a packed house. The game was played in front of a newspaper offices. The game was played in front of a television stations. The game was played in front of a radio stations.

The game was played in front of a sold-out crowd. The game was played in front of a sold-out audience. The game was played in front of a sold-out arena. The game was played in front of a sold-out stadium.

Santa Clara varisty took many shots of Taylor's and the attempt to look for a rebound was too much for COP.

Record in all games played: 16 wins, 9 losses
Jim was the floor leader for three years. Really the heart and soul of the team, Taylor was also one of the finest defensive players around. As a result of his amazing defensive ability he was aptly dubbed “The Master.”
The third of Santa Clara's seniors, Jack was the kind of inspiration the "Guts Team" of '58-'59 needed. Jack was known most for his deadly jump shot and his amazing ability to jump. Perhaps the most unique part of Jack's career is that he was the self-named Captain of the famed "Chinese Bandits."

One of the team's three seniors, Dave ended the season in brilliance. After a slow start, Dave poured in 16 points against Gonzaga. It was his shot in the final seconds against C.O.P. at Stockton that gave Santa Clara one of the hardest fought wins of the season. Perhaps Dave's greatest ability is that of a defensive ball player. This defensive ability was the answer to many of Santa Clara's great wins this season. He was also an outstanding ball handler and floor man.
Frank Sobrero

An All-WCAC forward, Frank led the Broncos in scoring for the second consecutive year. Only a Junior, Frank has another year to star for the Mission Campus. Many things can be said of Frank, but most effective was his hook shot, jumper and driving lay-ins. This is evidenced as he poured in 425 points for a 17 point per game average. Many tab him as All-American material and the season '59-'60 may prove this to be true.

George Gardiner

Old "Mudcat" was one of the leading scorers for the Broncos in '58-'59. He did a tremendous job on the big men he faced and could always be counted on for a quick two points. The jump-shot and set were Gardiner's best shots. Another Junior, George will be back if he gets out of the sack in time.
The other Santa Clara "Garbage Man" Jim is famous for his weird but effective array of shots. He was always the man after that loose ball, always the fighter. Jim was the outstanding free throw artist of the Pacific Coast as well as the WCAC. He was the second leading scorer with 270 points for a 11.2 point per game average. A Junior.

Joe Sheaff

One of Santa Clara's famed "Garbage Men," Joe put on one of the most amazing exhibitions of basketball seen in these parts in years. Coming off the bench when Mel Prescott was injured, Sheaff became the top rebounder on the coast. Joe was a consistent scorer and he managed to score 151 points for a 6.5 point per game average. Next season many things will be expected from Joe and all are confident that he can do it.

Jim Russi

The other Santa Clara "Garbage Man" Jim is famous for his weird but effective array of shots. He was always the man after that loose ball, always the fighter. Jim was the outstanding free throw artist of the Pacific Coast as well as the WCAC. He was the second leading scorer with 270 points for a 11.2 point per game average. A Junior.
Perhaps the most unique part of this year's ball club, these are the men who made the team go. Mel "the Stick" Prescott was one of the team's leading rebounders and scorers until he was sidelined by injury at mid-season. McGrath, Lillevand and Ramm, all sophomores, each have an outstanding future ahead of them. McGrath, an outstanding rebounder, Ramm and his Jumper, and Lillevand and his flashy and tricky ball-handling are part of the formula which will make Santa Clara champions in the '59-60 season.

St. Mary's Series

The "Galloping Gael" was picked as the class of the league and the team to beat. Going into both games in the role of underdog, the Broncos fared quite well.

In the first contest, battling the jinx of the Moraga "phone booth", Santa Clara was edged by a 65-64 score!

Lefty Frank Sobrero led all Bronco Scorers with 18 markers, while Jim Taylor scored five field goals for ten points.

In the season finale, this time the underdog Broncos let loose and showed the Gael who was boss. Before a jam-packed house at the Civic, the Broncos played the most thrilling and spectacular game of the season. With Frank Sobrero and his 33 points the Broncs claimed victory with three seconds to go by the score of 67-66.
At long last the Broncos have overcome the U.S.F. basketball giant. U.S.F., as cocky as ever, did not belong on the same court as the Santa Clarans. Both games were won easy by the scores of 60-54 and 70-64.

In both games the most outstanding player was Jim Russi. Scoring 19 and 23 points respectively, Russi could not be stopped. Joe Sheaff also did his share of scoring to overcome the wilted Don.

Perhaps the greatest victory was the season finale. Before a stand-up crowd in the Dons new gym, the Broncos were down eleven points at half time. Fighting their hardest, the team managed to gain all these points back and go on to victory. This was truly a team effort and demonstrated the caliber of basketball played by this year’s varsity. Truly they were the “Garbage Men” who gained plenty.
San Jose State Series

As always the cross-town battle between the Broncos and the Spartans proved who is the superior. The Spartans tried but couldn't quite come up to the class of the Broncos.

Taking two easy wins, 61-42, and 72-56 Santa Clara played an outstanding brand of basketball. Sobrero, Prescott and Russi were the Stars.

At no time was Santa Clara in trouble, a tribute to the sterling defensive play of Taylor and Dawson.

It's always a great win when we beat State and without a doubt these two were the greatest.

The C.O.P. Series was one of the most interesting set of games all season. Santa Clara won them both, but they were both hard fought wins.

First by the score of 64-56 Santa Clara, led by Frank Sobrero and his 23 points, was able to penetrate the stone wall defense of the Tigers only at set intervals. Were it not for playmaker Jim Taylor the Broncs would have never been able to get inside and score at the few scattered openings.

The second game was another "closey". The Broncs coming out on top 70-68. Once again Sobrero was the star but was aided by the brilliant play of substitute Joe Sheaff who scored a much needed 21. This is the game that Sheaff and Russi were dubbed "The Garbage Men". Everything they threw up went in the bucket!!!
Non-Conference
Stanford & California

Santa Clara played more non-conference teams this year than any Bronco five of the past. Included among these were San Francisco State, Stanford, U.C.L.A., Chico State, Houston University, Brigham Young University, U.S.C., Arizona State, University of Arizona, Gonzaga, and California.

In the first game of the season the Broncs got off to a winning start by defeating San Francisco State 49-32.

Next the Santa Clarans invaded the Cow Palace for a double header with Stanford and U.C.L.A. Stanford handed the Broncos their first defeat by the score of 55-49. This was an upset victory for the Indians. The next night we faced U.C.L.A., then considered the number one team on the coast. The men from Westwood got the biggest surprise of their life when the up to that time unheralded Broncos handed them their worst drubbing of the season. One of our better victories of the season, we came out on top 56-42. We also won the second game with the Bruins 49-47.
Chico State proved no contest as the score indicates. We won 72-39. Houston University, with their 6'7" height average also went by the wayside when it faced the mighty Bronco. The score, 73-68.

However, Brigham Young, Arizona State and Arizona University put the Bronco back into its stall. We lost 'em all, 80-59, 75-65, 80-58, and 79-38. Perhaps this was the worst road trip in history.

In our match with U.S.C. we also fell but not as bad as it sounds. We lost 63-49, but we played good ball and after this game we did not lose another.

Santa Clara played the NCAA champions of the United States, The University of California, and can be proud to say that we gave Cal one of its tougher games. Pete Newell, knowing that Santa Clara was tough, really showed his true color by starting his second string so as to try and get us off guard. A nationally televised game, this will go down in history along with his eight minute stall against U.S.F. three years ago. We lost 66-55, but the score with 2 minutes to go was 60-59 just to prove how close the game really was.

We also beat Gonzaga and their 7'3" giant Gene LeFebvre by the score of 67-62.

Coach Bill Leonard

The 1959 version of Bronco baseball was the best seen on the Mission campus in many a year. Led by Big Jim O'Rourke, they broke from the gate with 12 straight wins. They won the WCAC crown with a strong 14-2 record. In the CIBA, the Broncos were 3rd, but got the NCAA bid to the 8th District Regional Finals. Although they lost a tough series to Fresno State, SC showed that she is a power to be reckoned with.

Lou Leonard, only a sophomore, led the CIBA in hitting. Jr. Les Powers was also high up in the batting race. Coach Bill Leonard is confident of even greater things of the 1960 Broncs with every starting hurler returning.

A highly rated and much talented Santa Clara freshman squad under Coach Dick Garibaldi can consider itself having had a real successful season.

Led by Don Leonardini and Bardy Christina the Bronco Babes defeated Stanford Frosh, San Jose State Frosh, U.S.F. and many highly rated High school teams.

If this year's team is any indication of Bronco Varsity Squads in the future, we are bound to stay champions.

Minor Sports
Chairman—John R. Murphy

Under the leadership of John R. Murphy, this year's minor Sports Committee took great strides toward improving the heretofore poor Minor Sports picture here at Santa Clara. The quality of the teams were improved along with the conditions under which the athletes labored. The return of Track and the championship Golf Team are only two indications of the great strides of Santa Clara's Minor Sports.

Barry Cummings and Phil Favro took over the leadership of the Intramural Committee this year and did an outstanding job. Other than ably running the five regular sports, the co-chairmen did one of the finest jobs ever on the President’s Day Track Meet. Taking over in mid-year for the departed Joe Glaab, Cummings and Favro turned the Bowling League into a smashing success, both athletically and financially.
Football Champs

River Rats
Once in a lifetime, a great team comes along. Santa Clara saw that once in a lifetime when it saw the fabulous River Rats. The Rats held the spotlight for four years with their thrilling, aggressive play. Their overall record was a phenomenal 33-3. Capt. Phil Favro's boys won the crown in '58 in a most convincing style as they ran over every form of opposition. This is a tribute to a truly great team.
Sonoma Beachers

Born in the tradition of fabulous teams, the Sonoma Beachers will long live in the memory of Santa Clarans. This team was the greatest aggregation of athletes ever assembled on one field. The Beachers not only swept through the Intramural league undefeated; they also overwhelmed such outside teams as the Pand M Builders (led by Sol Rheimer). Only close call for the Brockman-managed Beachers was a close 10-0 no-hit victory twirled by Walt Cameron over the Lalpeter All-Stars.

In closing this edition of The Redwood the names of a great many individuals come to mind. At this time it is my privilege to extend my sincere thanks:

... to Tom and Pat Collins of Tom Collins Studio who have completed ten years of service to Redwood.

... to Father Francis Curran, S.J. for the shots of the campus which appear on the division pages.

... to the seniors who spent many hours after finals and even after graduation assembling this book, especially Charlie Erle.

... to Father Alexander Tait, S.J. whose encouragement and guidance made this book a reality.

... to the mentioned and the unmentioned who have contributed a single iota of effort to making The Redwood 1959 what it is.
